The game recognizes the winner of the annual sun safety poster contest where students in preschool through 12th grade submit posters demonstrating how to be SunWise. This year's winner is Richie Gunnell, an 11-grade student from Mountain View High School in Mesa. Richie's drawing was selected by the DBacks from more than 5500 entries. Every student who entered receives a personalized thank-you certificate and there were 50 semifinalist, at least two from each grade level eligible to win the grand prize tickets. Richie, his teacher Matt Foreman and their families, were treated to free tickets to Tuesday night's DBacks game against the Oakland A's. Richie also received an on-field award and he and his teacher were featured on the jumbotron and celebrated for their sun safety efforts. Pictured: D.
